NATIONAL FORUM FOR BLACK PUBLIC ADMINISTRATORS
METRO ATLANTA CHAPTER

ABOUT NFBPA:

The National Forum for Black Public Administrators (NFBPA) is the nation's premier association of Black public leadership, with a growing and proud reputation for advancing Black leadership in the public sector. Founded in 1983, membership has grown to include managers and executives in virtually all disciplines represented in government, and nonprofit.

In addition to public service professionals, we embrace graduate students, deans and faculty at schools of public administration and executives in the corporate sector. Established as a support organization for an increasing number of Black public managers and administrators, the NFBPA mission is embodied in the organization's commitment to strengthen the position of Blacks within the field of public administration; to increase the number of Blacks appointed to executive positions in public service organizations; and, to groom and prepare younger, aspiring administrators for senior public management posts in the years ahead.

WHAT WE DO:

NATIONAL PROGRAMS

Mentor Program

An 8-month intensive program focused on skill-building and fostered interactions between mentors and protégés.

Executive Leadership Institute

A training institute for experienced managers and public administrators that offers a curriculum mixed with both academic theory and practitioner-based experience through partnerships with universities and cities throughout the country.

Annual National Conference

Energize and renew your commitment to public service excellence, learn best practices and emerging trends, hear from thought-provoking keynote speakers, and network with various public sector experts and business leaders from across the nation.
